Hitler Shows Anxiety Over Home Control

ANNOUNCES BROAD POLICY

F.D.R. To Limit Salaries

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(BUP)—President Roosevelt proposed a seven-point program to Congress today to check rising living costs with drastic curbs on wages, prices, rents and credit including limitation of the net income of any American individual to $25,000 a year.

"Our standard of living will have to come down," he said in a special message to Congress in which he described his program as one of "equality of privilege" for all Americans under total war.

He said that the program, which Mr. Roosevelt said "may well be called our present national economic policy," will be aimed at "limiting the income of any individual to $25,000 a year."

Adolf Hitler's speech to the Reichstag suggests the utterances of a man who is beginning to suspect he is living on borrowed time. The speech was such a departure from the confident boasting of last year and promises of German victory in 1942 that it may be regarded by some as an effort to lull the Allies into a false sense of security and throw them off guard.

The psychological effect of his admissions and apologies for failure in Russia, plus intimations that he expects to be fighting in another winter campaign, may be the opposite. When a fighter

U.S. Warship Sunk By Blast Near Florida

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP)—The United States navy announced today the destroyer Sturtevant had been sunk off the coast of Florida by an underwater explosion within the past 24 hours.

Loss of life was small, the navy said, and most of the crew of the First Great West naval vessel were rescued. The ship was a fast patrol boat, and was carrying a large amount of war material. The explosion was caused by a torpedo fired by a German U-boat raider, which sank the ship on April 26. Voting Tempo Increases As Day Proceeds

Tempo of voting during the late morning hours in the map-purveying polls has increased considerably and general indications were that the 1940 general election total vote in both the Edmonton ridings would be materially exceeded.

In the Beverly pool in Edmonton East the heaviest morning polling of the plebiscite was recorded, but the general condition was a steady stream of voters without crowding.

Reconnaissance Shows Chaotic Results From Heavy British Attacks

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS

LONDON, April 27.—(BUP)—Civilians are fleeing from burning Rostock, Germany's Baltic port and armaments centre, to escape the R.A.F.'s air attacks which have heaped 800 tons of bombs upon the city in the past four months, the air ministry reported late today.

While the R.A.F. carried its "second front" offensive across northern France in daylight attack, an air ministry statement said that aerial reconnaissance had revealed the chaotic results of the Rostock bombings, concentrated last night on the big Heinkel airplane works.

In today's daylight attacks 10 German fighter planes were destroyed, nine by R.A.F. fighters and one by a Hudson bomber. The British lost nine fighters and two bombers. The French industrial centre of Ville and Oetend, Belgium, were attacked.

Aerial photographs of the main railroad station were said to have shown crowds waiting for the next train—"any train that would take them away" from the bomb-ravaged city of 115,000 population.

"Photographs from many parts of the town show what they are leaving behind," the air ministry said.

Fires Rekindled In Latest Assault

On the edges of these clouds and in many other parts of Rostock there is ample evidence of the destruction caused."

Supreme Impact Is Attached To Voting Outcome

By GUY DEXTER

Edmonton Bulletin Asks Bureau

OTTAWA, April 27.—With all Canada flocking to the polling booths, political leaders here, irrespective of party, regard the outcome as of supreme importance.

There is no doubt whatever, here, as to the nation's verdict. Every body is sure that there will be a large "yes" majority. The intense interest arises out of the fact that Quebec—the only province in which a vigorous, well-defined "no" campaign has been carried on—Quebec holds the spotlight for the vote.

A very large "no" majority would indicate a more serious split in the country than many had supposed.

BLOW TO NATIONALISTS

A fairly even vote in Quebec would not only leave the Nationalist majority but would be virtually a death blow to the Nationalist cause.

The development of the campaign in Quebec has been followed with interest at Ottawa and Prime Minister King's remarkable statement on Friday night regarding the position of the government is construed here as a direct appeal to the French Canadian electors as an attempt to stem a reported Friday

U.K. HAS TRIO OF DEVASTATING BIG MACHINES

Britain's Bomber Output Outstrips Rate of Losses

Handley Page Firm Turning Out Giant Halifax Aircraft To Carry War To Germany

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE.
HANDLEY PAGE AIRCRAFT FACTORY, Somewhere in Britain, April 27.—(AP)—Frederick Handley Page, a hawk-nosed giant who started his career in heavy bombers back in 1914 with a machine that carried the then unpopular doctrine of the "strategic bomber," the first of the modern day's long-range bombers, is one of the handful of men responsible for keeping Britain's four-motored bomber production ahead of the losses that go with intensified raids over Germany.

His long-range Halifax bombers, built with stiffening and landing gear to form the most devastating trio that any nation has thrown into an air offensive.

The Stirling carries the biggest bomb load of any British bomber, but the Halifax is the most accurate. The Lancaster, a formation of which carried out a spectacular raid on Augsburg deep into the heart of Germany last week, regularly has the edge in speed. Five Canberras were aboard the Lancasters when took part in the first of them from Edmonton, Alberta.

EXCEPTIONAL RANGE
The Halifax has exceptional range. It can stand 2,000 miles—plus 100 structural weight, which makes it pound for pound, one of the most efficient bombers ever built.

Production figures naturally cannot be revealed. But correspondents of the Handley Page factory, one of several producing or producing the Halifax, are convinced that the British heavy bomber output now more than compensates for the losses sustained over the Reich and Germany.

HOME NEW TITLES
This resolution called him: "Further of the nation, supreme command in chief of the armed forces, chief of government invested with supreme executive power, supreme judge and leader of the Nazi party."

Field Marshal Hermann Goering, president of the Reichstag, said also supreme war leader, and put aside when he was named Kaiser Wilhelm ceded the Holland frontier after losing the last war.

The resolution said: "It is beyond doubt that the Fuehrer in the present phase of the war in which the German people are engaged in a life or death battle, must have the right to be entrusted with all the powers that will enable him to do everything that serves or contributes to winning victory."

SUPREMACY POWER
"Without being bound by existing legal rights, the Fuehrer in his capacity as the supreme commander previously must at any time be in position to summon if necessary every German, be he soldier or officer, low or high official or judge, directing or working functionary or party workman or employee, by all means which he regards suitable, to his duties and when necessary these duties to punish him accordingly after conscientious examination of his case, nor when necessary to remove him from his post and to take any measures according to prescribed procedure."

That this resolution signifies that the Fuehrer is taking personal power for himself by his amazing terms is shown by Hitler's own statement:

"I expect that the country will give the right to the Fuehrer to intervene immediately, and take personal charge, wherever and whenever, and in all cases, to the immediate solution of major vital tasks. At the front and in the country, our system of laws, power and judiciary must apply likewise to one and all, and only the achievement of victory."

"Nobody at this stage can insist on his vested rights. He must all know that today there are only duties to be fulfilled."

"I therefore demand from the German Reichstag the definite assurance that I possess the legal right to compel every individual to perform his duty and in certain cases to compel such individuals to perform their duty, or to deprive them of their rights, or to punish them, no matter who they be or what rights they may have acquired."

COMPLAINS OF COLD
Hitler berated Gen. Douglas MacArthur, promised to relieve the British air raid on Germany, proposed to go on hammering at the Bolsheviks and to smash into Japan to enter the war. He said the German machine was working intensively and that America's entrance to the war had given free play to submarines.

On the military side he complained of the Russian winter, said which "paralyzed not only the men but also the machines."

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(CP)—The United States government announced Saturday it had landed troops in New Caledonia to assist the Free French in the defense of the vital strategic island which flanks the supply route between America and Australia.

The action, which the war department said is taken "with the approval of local authorities," was the first announcement of American troops moving into French territory. The size of the American force was not disclosed.

In view of the new collaborationist regime of Pierre Laval at Vichy and of the previous angry outbursts from Vichy when the United States sent a consul-general, Brazzaville in Free French Equatorial Africa—observers expected a new victory over the troops in New Caledonia.

ORDER PROTECT
The forthcoming promptly Vichy, announced Sunday that Ambassador Guston Henry-Haye in Washington had been ordered to protect the action.

From a military standpoint, New Caledonia is of utmost importance to the United Nations. Lying 800 miles east of Australia, it is close to the route for the ships carrying food and munitions to Australia and bases for the projected offensive against the Japanese.

PORT SPAN AMERICA
Pan-American Airways chose Noumea, the capital, as a port of call for its San Francisco-Auckland-New Zealand route.

Landing of the American troops on the island represented, in a manner, the winning of a race with the Japanese. The Japanese had been moving steadily east and southward from Java, near the trans-Pacific route from the United States to Australia.

LONDON, April 27.—(CP)—Here is Hitler's list of titles as recited off before the Reichstag Saturday by Goering in one mouthful:

"Leader of the nation, supreme commander of the armed forces, chief of government, supreme lord of executive power, supreme lord of justice and leader of the National Socialist party."

MUST KNOCK OUT REIDS
If Hitler really expects to be continuing the bitter struggle in Russia next winter, it is almost equivalent to an admission of defeat. The United States has not been in the war long enough to raise and equip the army necessary to beat Hitler, or to get it over to Europe. Later it will be different.

The situation has changed since last summer. When Russia and the United States were not in the war, Hitler was dominant. He was going to win, he should have been. But he took on Russia, which was not out to be a costly mistake.

Then he got the United States into it through his attack on Pearl Harbor. The situation is changed. The United States is now a factor in the war. Hitler is no longer dominant. He is going to lose, he should have been. But he took on Russia, which was not out to be a costly mistake.

City firemen responded to a varied assortment of calls over the weekend, including fire in a car, a call to a false alarm turned in at the bus situated at the corner of 111 street and 100 avenue.

Fire fires at 11301 90 street and 100 avenue and 90 street, caused by a gas leak, spreading from rubbish heaps, were soon put out. Similar quick action quenched two gas fires at 116 avenue and Albert street and 114 street and 90 avenue as well as a bush fire at 100 street and 100 avenue.

The firemen also responded to a chimney fire at 10001 71 avenue and to a smouldering flame caused by a cigarette butt in a local hotel.

Wheat Surplus
OTTAWA, April 27.—(CP)—The Canadian wheat surplus now stands at 489,400,000 bushels—108,000,000 bushels less than at the same time last year. The Dominion bureau of statistics said Saturday in a review of the wheat situation.

Although export figures for February and March showed a decline, shipments are still 30,000,000 bushels in advance of those for 1941, and in the first half of April they were more than in the corresponding two weeks last year.

ADVERTISING has been a useful tool in the hands of business. It has enriched those who used it skillfully.

It has been a contributing factor to mass production and a higher standard of living than ever heretofore been available to mankind.

McCauley Concert Group At Carvel

In aid of the Queen's Canadian Fund for the Relief of Victims, the McCauley Concert group held a concert and dance in the Carvel hall at the weekend, under sponsorship of the Carvel Community League. Proceeds amounted to $64.

In addition to $300 raised for the Concert group's pool fund, feature of the evening was the "Chinese Auction," for which the proceeds were donated to the C.N.B.I. Edmonton branch.

The next concert to be held by the group will be at the Masonic Temple on Friday, May 1, and will mark the first anniversary of the founding of the war workers group.

Do We Want All-Out War?

In his closing broadcast on the plebiscite Prime Minister King stated the obvious truth that those who vote "no" today will thereby say they do not trust the judgment of the Government and parliament to conduct the war in the light of the full knowledge of facts which only the ministers and members can have. He added that if this were shown to be the attitude of the majority of the Canadian people, he would not want to continue in office. Who that respected himself would see such circumstances want to do so?

The Government and parliament have assumed that the overwhelming majority of the people of the Dominion want the full strength of the country, human and material, thrown into the struggle. We all know when the balance is so tilted tonight whether that supposition was right or wrong. If it is right there will be a "yes" vote of landslide proportions. If not, it should be otherwise Government and parliament would be shown to have misjudged the temper and purpose of the nation, and that only a limited war effort would have public approval.

It is the voter who is on the spot today, and must say whether he wants an all-out war effort or something less than that.

In Mud And Snow

After reading for weeks Berlin communiques explaining that the spring of the mud had been the cause of the Russian offensive, readers may have been surprised to learn that on the Karelian Isthmus the mud is "up and firm." There the Germans and their Finnish allies seem to have fared no better than in the mud a thousand miles to the south.

The fighting on that northern sector is particularly important, for there the Russians are trying to clear the enemy away from the Murmansk railway, along which they move the enormous quantities of equipment sent from Britain and the United States to the northern port. To a very considerable degree the battle of the winter may be decided by the issue of that struggle. If the line can be kept open, Russia will get the tanks and guns it needs. If the line is closed, the German would have to fight with scant supplies.

Moscow reports that the fighting in that sector has been going well, that the enemy forces have been thrown back and are in some danger of being completely routed. If so, Russia will have won the first round in the summer campaign, one which may have very drastic consequences. The Russians have shown that if they can get the "tools" they can do the job on the eastern front.

Slowed Down

Burma is the bad spot on the Far East war map, and it is obviously bad. But it is the only one. Elsewhere the enemy accomplished nothing of being routed. If so, Russia will have won the first round in the summer campaign, one which may have very drastic consequences. The Russians have shown that if they can get the "tools" they can do the job on the eastern front.

The important question from that theatre is negative; India has not been invaded. Two weeks ago an attempt at invasion was expected any day, but it has been materialized. On the contrary the powerful enemy fleet then cruising in the Bay of Bengal has apparently been withdrawn, following the debate that is being held at Colombo, the blasting of the base at the Andaman Islands, the incessant raids of Australian-American airmen on Japanese bases in the East Indies, and the bombing of Japanese cities.

Japanese control over the islands where their flag was hoisted weeks ago is only nominal. From the Philippines to Java and New Guinea fighting is still going on, and anything resembling complete occupation a remote possibility.

While the Allies were driven back in Burma during the past week, the enemy advance there has not been fast enough to promise that he can get out of the flood zone before the monsoon strikes. The stiffened resistance there and the air offensive from Australia, have delayed the Japanese sweep westward to a snail's pace, if the drive toward India has not been practically halted.

It is not impossible that Tokyo may have decided to suspend action against India and attempt to break the growing Allied power in Australia.

The Time Is Not Ripe

There may be some wishful surmising behind the report that Herr Hitler has toiled the big stick to Hungary and Rumania from immediately switching into each other. War in the enemy camp would be so much to the advantage of the Allies that it is not surprising that they have been attached to the squabbling which is undoubtedly going on.

At the close of the first great war Transylvania was taken away from Hungary and given to Rumania. Two years ago Hitler took it from Rumania and gave it back to Hungary—officially making himself master of both. This Rumania doubly troubling German minds, perhaps even some Japanese minds. The end may be far off. But the moving finger writes—New York Times.

sumed, and the only reason either of them takes orders from Adolf is that he has the big battalions.

There is more than one reason for the demand that Hungary and Rumania send huge numbers of troops to the Russian front. Adolf needs them there; and if he doesn't take away their armies the whole world would likely enough go to each other when he gets too heavily involved in Russia to enforce peace in the rear. For the same two reasons the contingents may not be forthcoming. If the Hungarians and Rumanians think he is already too involved to detach forces to discipline them.

Neither Rumania nor Hungary is in the Nazi camp willingly. And the pro-Nazi who have not yet been taken by the Nazis cannot altogether ignore the popular adherence to their respective national ideals and interests. An open break is apparently inevitable, but that the two peoples are already at daggers drawn is doubtful. The Fuehrer has not yet been weakened enough to make disobedience safe.

Lord Beaverbrook says 1940 and 1941 were "big years" for Britain. Those were the years of Dunkirk, Greece and Crete. But they were also the years when Hitler's armies were frustrated and the program thrown out of hitch. But for this all Europe and most of Africa and Asia would be a slave camp. It isn't the local victories or defeats that count, but the gaining or losing of the big objective.

Experts at the Dominion laboratory at Letbridge say a large area in southern Alberta is being invaded by a plague of grasshoppers. They also say a year of the threat is due to failure of farmers there to build proper control works. The year, only a small amount of bait having been distributed in the heavily infested territory. What farmers who look ahead should do about putting out the bait this year, in areas where hoppers are a recognized menace, seems to be plain.

The Nazi authorities announced that 35 more French hostages have been shot in the occupied zone in reprisal for attempts against German soldiers. The news, given in the "Völkischer Beobachter," impresses the French people with the fact that the change there does not mark any change in the savagery with which the German measures of reprisal are met. The murder of thirty-five untried persons for crimes they may have known nothing about, is about putting out the bait, or perhaps not in the way intended.

Looking Over Jack Kelly

THERE was a time when the life of a major league hockey player was something for a kid to dream about—the winter months spent playing in such glamorous places as Montreal, New York, Chicago and Detroit, the spring and summer spent in galloping around the playgrounds at home in a sparkling new sportswear and the fall spent in hunting ducks or some such interesting pastime.

In fact there was only one time in all the sport world—that lived by a major league hockey player. The chief difference lay in the fact the player got to go south in late winter to do his training under palm trees while the puck hunter had to train where there was ice and snow.

But that ideal existence is all shot now. The edict has gone out that hockey players, major, minor or ladpoles, must all dig in this year and get a shoulder behind the wheel of Canada's war effort.

Tommy Gorman, general manager of the Canadiens, has impressed this fact very forcefully on his regulars as well as his prospects in amateur ranks.

"Hockey must definitely be of secondary importance to the bigger job of winning the war. The day of the tourist hockey player—the guy who loafed all summer—is definitely out so far as the Canadiens' declared tomorrow the other day.

What's more, the Canadiens are convinced that Tommy isn't fooling. For every last member of the outfit is either now in the armed services or engaged in some sort of vital war-work.

Seven are working in airplane plants—Terry Reardon, Einar Lach, Jack Portland, Rex Murphy, Gerry Hearn, Jimmy Haggerty, and Rudy O'Connor. The Blake is in a munitions factory and Charlie Sands is in a shipyard. Joe Benoit and Bunny Dene are working in the Trail mill. Ken Rendon, turned down by the force for color blindness, is trying to get into the army here. Johnny Gully and Jack Adams are already in the air force. Red Gougeon and Butch Bouchard are hard at work on their farms. Gelfin, who has owned a shoe store at Stratford, Ont., for several years, is taking regular military training.

What is more, none of the players on any of the National League teams are at all certain that there will be major hockey next winter. A lot of them, in fact, will be surprised if they are called to report for training when fall rolls around again.

It will be a wide alumni who knows the name of the boys who is coaching his alma mater's varsity squad when football time rolls around again south of the border.

No less than 21 new faces are already present in the gallery of elite college coaches—and more are being added weekly as the armed forces call in men to help train Uncle Sam's bigger and slightly more important team.

Oregon has had the liveliest time of it. In three months, it has had three coaches. So rapid is the turnover of grid coaches in the Pacific Coast Conference that Oregon State's Thina, the youngest of them all in age, is the dean of the conference in years of service.

Incidentally a goodly number of those grid men have been called in by the U.S. Navy to form a staff entrusted with turning out the tough fighting men that can be developed. They have adopted the slogan "Keep 'Em Dying".

THE QUESTION
The restriction to 40-mile-an-hour speed limit on the highway prompted the Inquiring Reporter to seek opinion on this and other conservation measures the Dominion government is taking to conserve fuel and rubber.

THE ANSWERS
LEN LORDE, salesman: One of the happy restrictions of the war is the speed of automobiles. It will save gasoline and rubber. The war is saving life and limb will be vastly more.

W. "FADY" TRIFFIN, returned soldier: The country, in relation to the war, is not with any regret that we will see the departure of the war of speed for the war's duration. Let's hope it may be permanent.

FRED JENNINGS, carpenter: When food is scarce, it is a good idea to eat less. The war is saving life and limb will be vastly more.

Speakers Confident Of Outcome Present Globe-Girdling War

Making a comparison of the methods of military operation as between past wars, particularly the first great war, and the present war, regarding as it is over the entire universe, Lt.-Col. H. R. Milner, K.C., was the principal speaker at the 23rd annual Ypres banquet held by the Edmonton Red Chevron Club in the Royal George hotel Saturday night.

CONSIDER
The speaker expressed confidence that the day was coming, and perhaps very soon, when the inferior man would come into his own. Contrary to early belief, he said, it is not power which will be the determining factor in this war, as in all wars. The final decision will be reached on strategy. This is a people's war, and it can not and will not be won until the people of the Axis countries have been brought to their knees," said Col. Milner.

Prior to the dinner a group of about 100 guests at the commodious where A. L. Brown, an officer of the club, placed a wreath of flowers on the table, and Capt. Cannon, C. F. C. Clough, club padre, said a prayer.

Merchandise at 7:30 p.m. the banquet hall was well filled with original veterans and their guests and President Fred Matthei kept the evening in good style from the outset. With a good sprinkling of those present in uniform and the veterans wearing numerous decorations and medals, the scene was a brilliant one.

Highland Games
Plans for the annual Highland Games to be held at the South Side Athletic Grounds on Monday, May 23, were formulated at a meeting of the Edmonton Highland Games Association Friday night in the Academy Hall. Since the games will be held on a Sunday, it was decided to hold the games the following day.

APPOINTMENT
The new executive of the association took place at the meeting. Hon. James A. MacKinnon, Dominion minister of trade and commerce, and M.P. for West Edmonton, was elected honorary president. A. Bichan was re-elected president, and J. C. McDougall was elected vice-president.

OTHERS ELECTED
Others elected were Arthur Miller and Alex Riddell, vice-presidents; Roy C. McLeod, chairman; J. A. Myles, secretary-treasurer; and R. T. Anderson, band and historical committee chairman. A. Bichan was re-elected president, and J. C. McDougall was elected vice-president.

While a large number of the old players and dancers are now arriving with the Mayfest's forces, it was decided to hold the games the following day. LONG-RANGE GUNS SET UP ON COASTLINE

Australians Prepare A "Welcome" For Jap Invaders

A brawny Australian gun crew swings into action, above, with a long-range field gun as the Commonwealth hastened to strengthen its coast defences against possible Japanese invasion. The gun crews remain at their posts 24 hours a day.

Maple syrup time is in full swing in Quebec. Buckets catch sap in forests of the province. Pretty skiers stop for taste of fresh syrup at kitchens.

Repair yards are swiftly restoring to service many of these war vessels damaged in violent storms this winter.

New Freighter For Merchant Navy

Thousands of shipyard workers and their families on holiday for the occasion cheered heartily as another great freighter was launched at an Eastern Canadian port. The ship was christened Fort Abitibi by Mrs. James Dart, wife of one of the foremen chosen by lot. The picture shows Mrs. Dart (with roses) officiating at the ceremony just before the freighter slid down the ways.

Learning To Make Bullets

War Comes To New Guinea

One of the first photos to reach Canada depicting Japanese destruction in New Guinea, shows a hangar in Salamaja being destroyed by fire. Salamaja was caught in the path of conquest as the Japanese fought southward to Australian waters.

One The U-Boats Didn't Sink

If the skipper of a certain Axis submarine makes an honest report, he won't take credit for sinking this U.S. tanker, even though he sent a torpedo crashing into her side, blew out the steel deck plates and almost ripped the ship in half. Although loaded with oil, the tanker did not catch fire, and is pictured after steaming into an American port under its own power, with bulk of cargo intact.

Canadian Army Firefighters

To meet the threat of Axis flame-throwers the Canadian Army trains crews of fire fighters who will play an important role when Canada's soldiers come to grips with the enemy. Here two fire fighters train a stream of water on a roaring bush fire.

Cold Steel—And They Mean It

Yanks in Northern Ireland, would like a try at Hitler, Mussolini & Co. in person, but are forced to content themselves, above, by making bayonet charges on snowmen representations.
